Close of Loan Exhibition.

The last day of the loan exhibit held at the home of the Misses Bigelow was clear and well attended. The house was kept open through the evening for the sale of those who wanted a last chance.

Somebody asked for fans and found there were five in the collection—two French fans, one with a little mirror on it, one handwood fan, one Chinese fan with quaint beauty with tiny porcelain faces, and one feather fan with ivory handle.

There were a number of interesting old pictures—one of the old First Congregational church, one of the rubber mills and one of the Howard house, the hotel which stood where the garden is. And, by the way, there is a bird house in the garden that is copied from a picture of the old hotel. There was a sword thrust that belonged to a member of the Colchester militia; and a pillow used ever since 1771 by various physicians Colchester.

It is now in possession of the Crafts Memorial library. The library also loaned an iron collar that was found riveted on the neck of a runaway slave. Israel Putnam's pocketbook appeared among some other family relics. Many things kept coming in, even up to the last day of the exhibit. It is impossible to do justice here to the collection of things. The Misses Bigelow have offered their house for other exhibits and the ladies of Calvary church hope to have smaller collections of special things through the summer, in which case the china we have had and more that has been promised will be shown to better advantage. The silver, pewter and Sheffield plate, with additions, would make another exhibit.

The doorkeeper wore a miniature of her grandfather and one group of visitors was introduced to the garden by Miss Bigelow in her grandmother's black hat and a beautiful black embroidered shawl that one lady—not an Episcopalian—sold for "the cause."

All things considered, the loan exhibit was a success. It brought out a great many beautiful things, it brought a great many people together in a common interest, it put a great many wits to working to devise plans for more exhibits and more teas, and it cleared $151.

Among those present from out of town were: From Rehoboth, Miss Carrie Kellogg, Miss Pendleton, Mrs. C. E. Pendleton; Melrose Park, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Carroll, G. W. Carroll, Jr.; Middletown, Mrs. James F. Felt, Miss Gabrielle Fairman; Norwich, Miss Helen Williams, Miss Anne Holbrook, Mrs. L. H. Holbrook, Mrs. Spaulding, Mrs. Edward W. Johnson, Miss Dorothy Hall, E. E. Halsey, Mr. and Mrs. Allen, Mrs. F. H. Halsey, Miss Harriet Haley, Miss Rouse.

It was said the car turned over three times in transit. It landed right side up, one side being imbedded up to the body in the swamp. A passing automobile brought the men to Dr. G. H. Jennings in Jewett City. Both were injured, but the doctor could not say to what extent. They went to their homes in Norwich. They were not killed was a miracle.

The front of the car received the brunt of the crash, the windshield, top, steering wheel, fenders and a lamp being smashed. The body and interior were not injured. The car was a 1915 model and all was in readiness for this afternoon's battle.

"Reason-Why" Tires

GOODRICH "Barefoot" Tires are light in weight, and close grained. This proves them relatively free from the usual inert substances or "fillers," that give excess weight, stiffness, and grind, to Tire tread.

More than 200 different Makes and Brands of Motor-Car and Truck Tires were manufactured and sold in U. S. A. last year, 1915.

These totaled about 12,000,000 Tires. Of that 12,000,000 total tires, the B. F. Goodrich Co. made and sold one-fourth.

Yet—Tires are only one of the 267 different lines of Rubber Goods made by the Goodrich Rubber Factory, which is the largest in the World, with a 47-year Experience.

This indicates the "Reason-Why" Goodrich Best-in-the-Market Fabric Tires can be, and are, sold to Consumers (via Dealers) at the lowest prices in America, per delivered Mile of Performance.
